

I stand in the pouring rain
You couldn't even be there to pick me up
You're taking me for granted again
You're running outta time
And you're outta luck!
Just a moment of weakness
I should examine my head!
Just a moment of weakness
I never meant a word I said!

I'm sick with the Beijing Flu
And you choose then not to come home
A week later I caught you
Kissing a girl who was my clone!
Oh, why should I stay and pretend?
You make me laugh again
My darling, truth is
We are not even friends!
Oh, love comes and it goes
Where your heart stops no one knows
How did I wind-up in this mess, here with you!