

i step out of my skin
you wouldn't know me now
couldn't you go away?
shouldn't i?

leave me the hard part
it's all i want
i need

i won't be your soft one i won't be encircled
you might become something i need

and you must not
must not get closer
couldn't I go away
with the dust of your words in my mouth?

don't show me your weakness
i can't rely on you to know my soul
don't show me your weakness
i might become something you need something you need something you need to destroy