

Another day I find myself feeling this way
Like I want to make it all slow down
I bought a ticket for this train
Now I'm on it and I'm fall speed ahead no looking back now
Another place I have to be
Put on my face no time to see my reflection or hear the sounds
Of poetry philosophy and all the things that make you wonder how this world goes round
But sometimes I see you a vision I can't hold onto
So for today I'll be still life with window view
Another promise I couldn't make Another candle on a cake that I forgot to wish on
I was so busy making plans I felt I needed both my hands and when I let go of yours then you were Gone
But sometimes I see you a vision I can't hold onto
So for today I'll be still life with window view
But sometimes I see you a vision I can hold onto
So for today I'll be still life with window view
Oh I see you in my window view
I will see you
Another day i find myself within this way